WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1864.

THE NEWSPAPER WAR.

The press of Buenos Ayres is now divided into two camps, and party feeling has been driven to an unusual pitch by the rival editors. The faction of riot, disorder, and incendiarism is represented by the 'Tribuna' and 'Nacional': the peace-party and supporters of the National Government count the 'Nacion Argentina,' 'Standard,' 'Pueblo,' and 'Progrès,' as their organs. Although the paper of largest circulation is pledged to support the friends of anarchy and confusion, the majority remains with President Mitre, and the foreign press has unanimously protested against the revolutionary designs of M. Varela's journal.

If the city papers can be taken as an index of public opinion, we may claim a decided victory; for the 'Tribuna' has so signally lost ground that our 'absent friend' has been summoned from his ex-diplomatic post to recover its waning fortunes; and the 'Nacional' is about to celebrate its own obsequies, being reduced to the last stage of prostration. On the other hand, the national organ gains, every day, new allies; the 'Pueblo' has taken a prominent stand among our colleagues, and quite eclipsed the other evening constellation; the 'Progrès' has nearly doubled the number of its supporters, and the English paper maintains its position as the third in the Argentine Republic.

It is to be regretted, but not wondered at, that the 'Tribuna' and 'Nacional' continue their ancient method of vituperation, attacking the personal character of every one who does not receive their teachings. This insane policy has been attended with its natural consequences, and although the 'Tribuna' can afford to lose 500 subscribers, the same is a death blow to M. Piffero's paper. If the latter had not degraded the literary profession during its brief career, we could have spared a tear for the demise of the father of the B. Ayrean press: but it sinks into ignominious oblivion under the condemnation of the public, and will afford a salutary lesson to M. Varela that he must adopt the error of his ways, and reform ere it be too late. It is flattering to find British and French opinion paramount in B. Ayres, for we have been already, too long, the duppes of fanatical incendiaries.

TURN-OUT THE STUDENTS.

Politics in Buenos Ayres are carried to such excess that it rather resembles a war of Mussulmen or Y'hoos than the contest of a free people in the exercise of civilized rights. Neither age, sex, nor condition is spared, but an indiscriminate pillage ordered, of everything most dear and sacred.

In this enlightened city, the S. American etheus, a writer in the Nacional seeks to vent his impotent wrath upon a pack of school-boys. Like the Saracen conqueror who burned the library of Alexandria, because it contained something besides the Koran, the literary doctor wishes to immolate the pabulum of Argentine civilization, because it does not suit his 'raw' idea. The abode of the Muses must be converted into a deposit for fire-arms, daggers and paving-stones wherewith to establish liberty of 'ruffleism' at the next elections.

Possibly our post-prandial colleague was laboring under unusual excitement when he offered this insult to the Alma Mater from whom he himself imbibed educational nourishment. But the fire of party spirit burns so fiercely that it dries up 'the milk of human kindness,' and we expect the Nacional will next demand the closing of the Women's Hospital. Happily there is one institution left, whose doors are hospitably open to receive the victims of over-excitement, and we fervently hope that both 'pen' and 'sword' bulletinists will spare the Asylum of the Convalescents.

Minerva has not, yet, put on mourning, the lamp of science still burns in the market-place, the toga-virilis flutters in the breeze of exile Florida, and the subscriptores of the University support the learned professors of the various faculties. In this manner the classical language of Rome still lives amid the greatest joviality; and in the immediate vicinity thereof a commemorating function will shortly take place.

EDITOUS TABLE.

We are still in mourning, and fashionables are to be seen in deep black: some of the Custom-house clerks seem quite inconsolable. President Mitre has not been seen to smile since Sunday night. In point of fact, it is rather popularly believed that there must be something rotten in the state of Denmark to warrant such unexampled Argentine sorrow.

The two evening Spanish papers are now engaged in a life-and-death battle. The 'Pueblo,' we hear, is gaining subscribers as fast as its adversary is losing them. There is a keen struggle going on, but we rather think that the young Pueblo will come off victorious.

Urquiza's speech on the opening of the Chambers has a sort of Uruguayan sublimity which is rather amusing. Evidently Don Justo has an eye to a stand again as candidate at the approaching elections. Had the Entre Rioan Governor travelled, we should most assuredly say that he visited the graves of Blarney, and kissed the stone. There is a decided conviction that, come what will, Don Justo will be re-elected.

The President of Paraguay is about to send another batch of young men to be educated in Europe. We believe the number is 25. Notwithstanding all the abuse which President Lopez receives from the papers here, we think that even the most prejudiced will admit that it is better to send the Paraguayan youths home to be taught, some useful trades and professions than to rent them up a set of garrulous superficial politicians.

On Friday night 'Lucrezia Borgia,' one of Donizetti's best operas, will be given at Colon. We think that a company, which cates so much to the public taste in other lines of the theatre, should attend also to the musical portion of the entertainment, and not be content with a mere 'go-as-you-please' style of singing. We have capital and a taste for sheep farming, do not hurriedly invest, but rather make a visit to some estancia in this province and Entre Rios.

2nd. Buy sheep rather than land, and settle in Santa Fe or Entre Rios; for the present state of our camp is an additional proof that it is over-stocked, unless on the Indian frontier.

3rd. Do not think of the Banda Oriental, for since the unfortunate revolution, there is great risk of life and property.

4th. Instead of surrounding yourself with comforts, resolve to rough it for a year or so.

5th. If you have no capital, take the first employment on an estancia, which offers, preferring a small establishment, even at lower wages.

6th. Leave in town all superfluous baggage, including letters of introduction, notions of blood, and education; taking only an intention to work hard and earn a good reputation.

7th. Do not think of getting an interest in a flock of sheep for some time; neither talk of rich relations or landed property you may inherit: the right owner is keeping you out of.

8th. If you have $100 or £200, you had better put the sum in one of the private banks (not the Casa de Moneda) and work for a year as farm servant, considering yourself as without any capital: in that period you may gain some useful knowledge, and begin for yourself, when your money and experience shall have increased.

9th. Supposing you have a small fortune, of $500 or 1000, it may be well to commence as mediancro: on halves with some wealthy sheep farmer.

10th. If you have neither money nor physical endurance you must become tutor to a family in the camp.

11th. No matter what your condition, society is peculiarly constituted, beware of public hospitality at the Police; in the camp shun 'pulperias' and gaucho society.

12th. Do not consider yourself without restraint, when you land in B. Ayres; but rather remember that you represent a numerous family of wives, children and history at home as we I as abroad. Otherwise it were better for you to return, sooner than become an object of disgrace among natives and your own countrymen.

By adhering to, or at least, weighing well these words of advice you may derive profit, and with the same good fortune as most of our Anglo-Celtic nationality, become a wealthy man: we wish you all, affluent and respectable members of our society.

N.B.—We shall always afford any requisite information, without great pleasure, to parties calling at this office.

CHRISTMAS IN PARAGUAY.

Asuncion, Dec. 28, 1863.

The coincidence of the anniversary of Paraguayan independence falling on the festival of the Nativity of our Lord, makes Christmas doubly celebrated at Asuncion, and foreigners not intimidated by the excessive heat should make a point to visit the capital at this season. The festivities usual in all Catholic countries are held with great pomp, and the profane diversions of civic holidays even eclipse the former.

On Christmas Eve a truce was declared to hostilities, and the fireworks and masquerades were a prelude to the grand bull-fight of the afternoon. About an hour before sunset I entered one of the boxes set apart for foreign visitors at the bull-ring, which was erected in the plain below the Government house. The hundred squadrons of the lower classes lined the theatre, and two mounted picadors, with two matadors, stood in the ring. The bull was dragged in from the enclosure, but immediately sought refuge from his mounted tormentors. When, however, the matadors advanced afoot, the animal turned on them and showed fight. After receiving repeated stabs in the back of the neck, which caused the blood to flow more profusely, the poor animal mounted piteously, and refused to continue the combat. He was therefore withdrawn, and another taken out to undergo exactly the same fate. Six were introduced in succession, but one of which was killed, although sometimes the bull-fighters round the ring with the knife sticking in his neck, and the matadors displayed considerable agility in bounding suddenly away from the beast as he furiously butted at them. The spectacle was sickening, and I proceeded to the triumphal arch, where the 'sorte' was attracting numbers of officers on horseback. There were also races, for 200 yards distance: it being remarkable that only two horses ran each time, and they were separated by a wooden paling. Considerable betting was made, but the horses seemed, like all the rest, of a very inferior breed. None of the high officials, and very few respectable persons assisted, but numbers of the country people had flocked in from various quarters.

Some young ladies invited me to accompany them, in the evening, to visit the Christmas crib exhibited in private houses. I saw three or four tastefully got up, but there was nothing different from those I have seen in other countries. There was also one in each church: through some neglect that of San Roque took fire, and several ornaments were consumed. Bishop Maresquello, the Cathedral, by the coadjutor bishop, but I did not attend.

Christmas morning was ushered with a peal of bells, and mass at half-past o'clock the whole city was astir. After Mass and Te Deum at the Cathedral, which were not attended by the President or any civil dignitaries, there was a levee at the Palace. Bands were playing in the place, and masqueraders dancing, when the reception began. First came the two bishops and the whole corporation, numbering about twenty. Then a crowd of colonels and minor officers, among the latter Captain Overton, and Skinner, in captain's uniform, and Lieutenant Masterman of the hospital pharmaceutical department: this latter had received the rank of lieutenant, who had received the epaulets of Brigadier-General, only the day previous. The Paraguayan officers are rapidly then advanced to pay their 'devoirs,' after whom came the foreigners. Mr. Valpy, railway engineer, and I were the only Englishmen present. The Consul Kingdom: an old Spaniard was the spokesman, but Hamlet would have thought his elocution faulty. The President, who was standing in the middle of the hall, surrounded by his ministers en grande tenue, made a very polite reply, and then retired, followed by a group of natives, which closed the list. It was raining heavily, and the court uniforms suffered sadly. The spacious hall was then cleared, and the court of all idea of a ball vanished in such weather.

Madame Lynch's dinner-party was the great event of the evening, for no countrywoman's hospitality is only equalled by her taste in getting up a grand dinner-party. Between 60 and 70 all the company had assembled I conversed with the coadjutor-bishop in the splendidly-furnished mate chamber, and looked over the well chosen library of English, French, and Spanish works.

Madame Lynch did the honors of the evening at the table, on the left of the coadjutor bishop (Palacios), on her left, General Robles. The croupier was Colonel Barrios, brother-in-law to the President. There were two tables for 30, most of the guests being English, including all the physicians and civil employés. Seven were the courses, and two dozen dishes, 'entrées,' 'ices,' were wound up by a real English plum-pudding, such as is rarely seen on this side of the Atlantic. Sauterne, madeira, sherry, champagne flowed in bumpers. Dr. Stuart proposed Madame Lynch's health, and Madame Lynch the President's, which were drunk with all honor. At ten o'clock a military band began to play English, Scotch and Irish tunes, under the windows, and we retired from the banquet saloon to the ballroom. General Robles and the President's sister, with Colonel Barrios and Madame Lynch, opened the ball. A crowd of persons assembled outside, and the company, by ways of respite, listened to some English ballads and Irish melodies, sung by a lady and gentleman of those present. The bishop had retired as soon as the dancing commenced, but the party did not break up till 3 a.m., when the compliments of Christmas were exchanged, and I came home to my hotel with the impression that it was the pleasantest Christmas I ever passed, with twelve years of exile, and that Madame Lynch, entertainer, in a notable manner, to make the festivities of Carlo square, at Asuncion, doubly interesting.

The bull-fights, horse-racing, and other popular regretations, lasted three days, during which the lower orders diverted themselves with unusual gusto: yet I did not hear of a single case of drunkenness. The fete closed, as said to have concluded with the 'gombu,' or nigger dance, in the ball-ring, on the night of the 27th.

THE NEW FINANCE MINISTER

It is currently believed that President Mitre at last has not Dr. V. Sarsfield's successor, and that the gentleman in question, Don J. B. Peña, has accepted office.

The condition of the national finances it is believed by no means as bad as what is represented: on the contrary, many who are intimately acquainted with the state of the treasury assert that with a little economy the minister would have not only sufficient means to meet all demands, but also be enabled to commence with the monthly harvings.

Sr. Peña is a man who enjoys a very high reputation amongst us, and it is to be hoped that he will begin his official career by calling to account for respecting the destruction of the paper money to the very letter. Besides, we remember that the politicians who are adverse to the National Government are beginning to take hold of this matter and censure the Government. We cannot wink at the omission, and therefore trust that the new Minister will have the good sense to send-every spare dollar to the bank to be burnt. Although paper may not lessen the value of gold, still it must necessarily increase the confidence which we all wish to have in the National Government.

FRAY BENTOS

Captain Varas had retired, and seven men, who had been left there, had been forced. A party of 50 was sent from Mercedes, to embark in a whale boat.

Judging, from the tales reported, of men fighting against such long odds as 1,000 and more, to 50, and 2 to 1 against 50, we are led to suppose that there must be in the Oriental Republic many descendants of the old 88th, or Connaught Rangers, of whom, in times past, Picton was so proud, that

> "He ne'er a soldier for that one shall,
> Nor dastard, nor any base coward,
> And he'll change to the very core of it—
> Who says a word against the 88th."

Captain Varas had intercepted the correspondence of Servando Gomez, with Leandro Gomez, in which he gives particulars of having crossed the Rio Negro, and also of his future proceedings.

It was stated that Flores was landing an English barque in Fray Bentos with hides.

Protest of the Foreign Consuls.

To Brigadier General D. Venancio Flores.

The Corporation of Foreign Consuls having been denied liberty of passing to your camp, in order to discuss some measures of a purely humane nature for the protection of the lives and interests of the municipality, in case of an attack upon this locality, have to notify to your Excellency that the foreign inhabitants have armed themselves for the above object, but, as before mentioned, that they shall take no part, either defensive or offensive, in event of such an attack being made.

In order to convince you of this, we annex a copy of the written instructions issued to the different heads of this association.

Consular Association.

1st. Foreigners are to be enrolled by their consular agents, and shall hoist their national flag in their house of meeting.

2nd. The companies are to be wholly dependent on their Consul.

3rd. The chief of a company shall admit no one without the consent of the Consul.

4th. The chief shall carefully watch over the Foreign interests, and report, as often as possible what may occur, to his Consul.

5th. The necessary stores for the support of the company will be dealt out by the chief, he giving an account of same.

6th. The chief will observe and cause to be observed the strictest neutrality, holding responsible for the conduct of his men.

7th. The combatants requiring the point of honor by the chief, he must retire without offering opposition, and choose another spot near at hand, giving notice of same to his Consul.

MANUEL YOVAL.

STATE OF THE CAMP

To the Editors of the 'Standard.'

Gentlemen,

Capillejo' presents his compliments, and begs to say, that having called on Mr. Forcer to purchase five or ten thousand of those 5 dollar mestizo sheep, found that the whole affair was quite a myth, and, like Ferrer's oration in Quilmes, composed of what the 'down Hunter' call 'bosh.'

As one you meet with anything in the 5 dollar line, please refer the seller to my broker 'Foster.'

Yours,

CAPILLEJO.

IRELAND.

DEATH OF THE REV. J. RICKARD, P.P., V.F.—We deeply regret to announce the death of the oldest and most honoured of the clergy of the archdiocese—the Rev. James Richard, P.P., V.F., Ballymore Eustace. His long career as a priest was spent in the steady and zealous discharge of the duties of his sacred calling. He was remarkable for his simple manners, unaffected piety, his simplicity of character, soundness of judgment, and for the zeal with which he laboured in the service of his Divine Master. In him the rich have lost an excellent pastor, whose commanded their admiration while he edified them by precept and example, and the poor have lost a devoted friend and watchful protector. The many, many, find some consolation in the reflection that he has been called to the eternal reward for which he long prepared and laboured. Deceased, we believe, was a near relative of Major Rickard of San Juan.

The line extending from the Avoca station of Wicklow to Ballykean and Wexford Railway to Arklow, Gorey, Ferns and Enniscorthy was opened for public traffic on Monday morning at a quarter past eight o'clock, when a large train left the Harcourt road station for Enniscorthy, from which the up train, consisting of thirteen first-class carriages, as full, arrived in town shortly after a quarter past twelve o'clock. The entire length of main line now opened for traffic on this railway is seventy-eight miles. On Sunday a special train went to Enniscorthy with the station masters and other officials to make ready for the opening of the extension of the line on Monday. We understand that it is the intention of the company to run a train each way from Enniscorthy to Wexford with as little delay as possible.

The Congress and the Sovereigns.

The Memorial Diplomatique says:

"One of the most unexpectant and free towns to which the letter of invitation to the Congress was addressed, is no sovereign—the Pope, the Queen of Spain, the King of the Belgians, and the Kings of Sweden, Portugal, Italy, and Denmark, the Sultan, and the King of the Greeks have formally declined to appear at Paris in person." The same journal says:—"Without pretending to know the exact tenor of the Pope's reply we can announce, according to information received direct from Rome, that Pius IX. adheres in an absolute manner to the idea of a Congress, and that he forms no reservation and demands no guarantees as the Italian journals had announced." Our contemporary likewise adds—"King Leopold, although relegating over a State of small extent, long succeeded, by intelligence and the great experience in acquiring the esteem and respect of the other Sovereigns to such a point that he has become in a certain measure the arbitrator of the difficulties which may arise between them, as we have had recently several examples. The adhesion of that monarch has therefore a special importance, as he has given it entirely and absolutely to the idea of a Congress, in an autograph letter, which, inspired by that best feeling, addressed to the Emperor of the French. This reply is an ample justification of the principles of humanity and progress which have inspired the great design of Napoleon III.

The Georgia and her Prizes.

The following is an authentic account of the vessels captured by the Confederate steamer Georgia, now at Cherbourg:—Ship Dictator, of New York (burn), value $80,000
Barque Good Hope, of Boston (burnt) 65,000
Ship Geo. Griswold, of N. York (bonded) 166,000
Barque J. W. Seaver 90,000
Ship Constitution, of N. York (burnt) 40,000
Ship City of Bath, of Bath (burnt) 20,000
Ship Prince of Wales, of Bath (bonded) 20,000
Ship John Watts, of New York (bonded) 20,000
Ship Bold Hunter, (burnt) 20,000

The above are all the prizes the Georgia has captured during her cruise. The letter from which we gain the above information is dated Nov. 10, and adds that the Georgia was going into dock at Charbourg for repairs.

LOCAL EVENTS.

Grand Ball.—The ball given to the Russians in New York cost almost one million and a half of patacones, or more than forty-three millions of B Ayrean paper money. Bennett, the editor of the New York "Herald," states that the ladies were literally covered with pearls and p atrolium.

Mr. Ferrer.—All town is after M. Ferrer and his five dollar sheep. Yesterday there was positively no getting in to either the Standard office or the custom-house, the throng of anxious enquirers after this distinguished lamb was so great. We understand that there are a few farmers on the look out for him also. In fact no doubt if we exaggerate when we say that Mr. Ferrer is the man of the day.

A New Railway.—One of our colleagues we perceive asserts that the Govt. has two railways at its disposal on which it can employ the turned out Custom house clerks. We are at a loss to know the name of the 2nd railway which appertains to the Govt., we suppose it must be a new one from the Boxes of the Colon theatre to the controllers at the corner.

River Plate Magazine.—This literary journal is, we are happy to say, meeting daily with increased support, and consequently its articles are pouring in from all quarters.

Villa del Salto.—This steamer still remains in the port of Salto, repairing the damages which she had suffered in the correntino. She will shortly be all right again.

Selling Out.—The contractor of the Northern Railway has advertised his horses. Parties who wish to get really good, serviceable brutes, would do well to pay a visit to the stables in front of the Custom-house.

"Gaceta de Buenos Aires"—There will be issued from the Imprenta Tipografica, at the beginning of the next month, a new periodical, under the above heading.

"El Pueblo."—Now that the preliminary obstacles, to which all new undertakings are exposed, are overcome, we may expect to see this newspaper punctually delivered to its subscribers.

The Irish College—Dr. Fitzsimons has removed his College from Lobos to San Jose de Flores, where he has taken the finest house in the town. Seven masters are all Dublin Trinity College men. The Portello pauvres, who are now receiving their education, will soon possess their own house in this well-class institution.

English Hotel—Mr. Vincent, the proprietor of the largest hotel in town, called the Hotel de la Paiz, has supplied his establishment with English waiters and housemaids for the accommodation of the numerous English travellers, who are now constantly arriving This hotel may now be regarded as the head quarters of all our recently-arrived fellow-countrymen. We would suggest to Mr. Vincent the propriety of having a 'luggageroom,' where travellers might leave their luggage in case of their being called out of town for a few days.

The Heat.—The weather still continues oppressively hot. Yesterday, the thermometer was over 96 in the shade.

Puero Julia.—The Chief has now got this celebrated promenade almost filled in with the rubbish, &c. When finished, it will have rather a commanding view of the river.

The Aide de Camp of Flores.—Have arrived, in the steamer Salto, yesterday, from the Uruguay, Don Gregorio Torres, called Aide-de-Camp of Flores, wounded by two balls in the left foot. This gallant young man is Argentine, and not wishing to lose his good name, as such, during an attack of the 'colorados,' took command of the troops, in the absence of a superior officer, and at the head of 16 men made a brilliant charge on the enemy, but he had 6 men killed, 4 were taken prisoners, and 2, badly wounded: he managed to escape, and is now getting nursed in the house of Sta. Flores.

ON 'CHANGE.

January 19.

The disunion at present unhappily existing between the National and Provincial Governments, was the subject of rather animated discussion on the Monte Marti ara of opinion that this capital question will ultimately prove another Schleswig Holstein; and at the provincial elections which immediately succeed the congressional, it is thought we shall have a very serious disturbance. Merchants view, with undisguised distrust, the apparent debility of the National Government, in permitting a band of violent politicians to create such a disturbance respecting a question, which, it was generally believed, had been settled for five years.

We now Finance Matters, it is believed, is Sr. Peña, who has a very high reputation on the Bolsa. Merchants regard him as a safe man, and it is thought that he will have the burning of the paper money resumed.

Paper money went up to-day, because it was said that the National Government were about to sell a large number of ounces.

In the wool plazas, a few good lots of wool were sold at very high prices; one lot fet-hied $105. It was rumoured that the Bank had a large sale of sheep was made at something very near Mr. Ferrer's price.

SAVINGS BANK.
BANK MAUÁ & C°
— No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —

BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in this, the great emporium of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Mercantile houses that fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already received the full working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an increasing number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of sickness or old age instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a Savings Bank at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on week days, and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 m. for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date,

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will meet with immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.

p. p. Mauá & Co.
WILLIAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.

1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency to one silver dollar upwards.

2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent [6 p$] per annum which is liquidated every six months

3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

4th. Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current according to the rules established by the Bank.

5th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS
Dor—Mr. Pongerard, of the London University College.

This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An over-watchful and constant super vision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, Drawing, Music and Dancing, are also taught by special masters.

The situation of the English Grammar School, in one of the most delightful Quintas of the Calle Larga of Barracas, at the very gates of the city, is one of the most healthful and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.

For particulars apply for prospectuses at the Standard Office, Calle Belgrano 74.
